

TIMOTHY S. TAYLOR, ESQ.
Arbitrator and Mediator

Timothy S. Taylor, Esq., is a full-time arbitrator and mediator. He is a former chair of the NYSBA Labor and Employment section. Mr. Taylor is a Fellow in the College of Labor and Employment Lawyers, and a member of the National Academy of Arbitrators. He serves on the American Arbitration Association Arbitrator Committee Council and Cornell ILR's Scheinman Institute Advisory Board. Arbitrator Taylor is listed on many panels including AAA, the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Scheinman Arbitration and Mediation Service and New York State PERB Arbitration, Mediation, Interest Arbitration & Fact-finding Panels. Mr. Taylor is admitted to practice in New York, Federal District Courts, and before the U.S. Supreme Court. He holds a Juris Doctor degree from Cornell University Law School. Mr. Taylor received his undergraduate degree from the University of South Carolina, cum laude.

Before becoming a full-time arbitrator, Mr. Taylor worked in the private sector. He was an associate with the law firm of Rowley, Forrest, O'Donnell, and Hite from 1987-1989. After that, he joined the counsel's office at New York State United Teachers, where he served as senior counsel until 2011. In 2011, he was selected by AAA as a Higginbotham Fellow. Since 2008, he has taught a variety of courses at the State University of New York at Albany, The Sage Colleges and the Rockefeller College of Public Affairs & Policy.