

Mark R. Myers
Director, Negotiations and Contract Administration
Allied Pilots Association

Mark works as the director of negotiations and contract administration for the Allied Pilots Association (“APA”). APA is the exclusive bargaining representative for the pilots employed by American Airlines. He has been with APA since 2008. Prior to APA, Mark worked for a Dallas-based civil litigation firm for five years.

Mark also serves in the U.S. Navy Judge Advocate General’s Corps as a Navy reservist. He currently holds the rank of Rear Admiral and is assigned as the Deputy Judge Advocate General of the Navy for Reserve Affairs and Operations. In this position, he acts as the reserve deputy Judge Advocate General of the Navy and is the executive lead for over 600 uniformed attorneys and paralegals. He served on active duty from 1996 to 2003 and has been a reserve since 2003. Mark is a graduate of the Air Command and Staff College and the National Defense University, Joint Forces Staff College.

Mark received a bachelor of arts in History with an interdepartmental specialization in Organizational Studies from the University of California, Los Angeles, and a juris doctor with a certificate in Governmental Affairs from the University of the Pacific. He is licensed in the states of Texas, Washington, and California (inactive). His spouse, Kari, is a graduate of Vanderbilt Law School. They have three daughters, the oldest of whom just graduated from Western Michigan University and their second daughter just completed her first year at Northeastern University (that’s right, only one more in high school).
