Robert Warden has over 25 years of experience as a labor and employee relations practitioner in the federal service with the U.S. Postal Service and the Federal Aviation Administration. In addition, he was an employment litigation attorney for the Postal Service for several years. He has extensive advocacy experience in arbitration, MSPB, and EEOC.