

ANDREA GANSEN

Andrea Gansen is the Vice President of Labor Relations for Amtrak (National Railroad Passenger Corporation), which operates more than 300 passenger trains a day over 21,000 route miles to more than 500 destinations, with responsibility for the administration of 21 collective bargaining agreements, covering more than 15,000 employees represented by 12 different labor organizations. Part of her scope of work is for the execution of arbitration, as prescribed by the Railway Labor Act and the respective collective bargaining agreements.

Prior to working for Amtrak, Andrea worked for Allegiant Airlines, Union Pacific Railroad and PacifiCorp – in Labor Relations and Human Resources roles. She is a graduate of Creighton University (BSBA) and University of Iowa (JD).