

Eli Gedalof

Eli Gedalof is a mediator and arbitrator specializing in labour and employment disputes, including rights-based grievances, collective bargaining, interest arbitration, wrongful dismissal, and health and safety and human rights complaints. Eli's mediation and arbitration practice spans the full breadth of private, public and broader public sector mediation and arbitration.

Prior to commencing work as a neutral, he was a partner in a leading Canadian labour law firm. He was appointed as a vice-chair on the Ontario Labour Relations Board in 2013. He is a graduate of McGill University and the University of Victoria Faculty of Law, and served as clerk to the Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Eli is a member of the Ontario Labour-Management Arbitrators' Association, the National Academy of Arbitrators and the Law Society of Ontario. He was formerly an adjunct professor with the University of Toronto's Centre for Industrial Relations, where he taught a graduate course in Labour Arbitration, and the long-time contributing editor for the leading text Ontario Labour Relations Board Law and Practice.
